To the one who finds this letter,

Nanda Devi stands tall outside my window, painted gold by the first light. Safe to say that at The Kumaon, time stands perfectly still.

Following secret trails through ancient villages, hidden waterfalls, and forgotten temples, you realise that the life we choose to live everyday hides so much from us. That's why The Hotel Edit is important. We all need places that can change something in us.

Thanks to my Platinum Reserve Card, that up to 15% off helped me stay a while longer. I couldn't keep this all to myself, and you shouldn't either. Pass this story on to someone who would truly cherish it. More from The Hotel Edit soon, from somewhere else beautiful.

Your's sincerely,
Fellow wanderer.
