

CENTURION®

Leave it undescribed

Words.

They describe everything.

The infinite blue over our heads is summed up as - 'sky'. The endless life below our feet is simply called the 'ocean'. Our everyday makes sense to us in words.

Kingdoms were born in exchange of words. It was words that stirred the world towards a revolution.

You can never believe that words can fail you, until they do.

Until you experience the rarest of the rare, served on a platter. Until you are asked to share what you felt, when you stood where none have reached.

Until you are asked to express the touch and the taste of things so uncommon; that only tales of them exist till now.

You can be asked, a million times, for a few words to describe the indescribable. And for the millionth time, you would just say "Let it be."

Leave It Undescribed.
